

FRONTIER SPORTS FULL OF THRILLS

Clever Exhibitions by Horsemen In Varied Feats Keep Crowd of Five Thousand Excited

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Those residents of Prescott who had their memories pleasantly refreshed yesterday as the magnificent spectacle of 150 cowboys mounted on their range horses again swept through the streets of the city, and wended their way to the old racetrack.

The grand parade was an excellent reproduction of the old days, and the personnel was reflective of the familiar forms who made the wheels go round rapidly, when there was something on the boards in skill and daring that was again enacted yesterday, and excited the admiration of those of the present day as it did in the era that has vanished into the dim distance.

The grand entry on the field of sports was headed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mix, of the Selig Polyscope Company, graceful in their pose and with that mien that assured the day's doings were to be pulled off satisfactorily to the five thousand spectators scattered from one end to the other of the enclosure. It was a cowboy event, in tune with the sentiment which actuated it and toned up with actors that clearly and cleverly conceived their mission to portray Frontier Day, as it was intended in the beginning.

In short, it was a great day and was made so by the greatest gathering that had ever congregated at that point. The scene was inspiring, and the only departure from other days was the hundred or more gasoline wagons. Otherwise the spectacle was like "summoning from the shadowy past the forms of those once familiar."

The day was ideal and was not marred by the slightest accident to any who attended or any who participated in the thrilling feats of the range. To add to the pleasure, there was no friction among contestants and the decisions of the judges were pronounced as fair and impartial in every instance.

Individual credit should be wholeheartedly extended to Charles Hooker, of Yavapai; Thomas Wells, of Pinal, and Oscar Roberts, of Maricopa counties, who presided as judges. Thomas E. Campbell acted as announcer, while Marshall Stedman, of the Selig Polyscope Company, rendered valuable assistance in arranging the program, which was carried out on the field by Geo. C. Ruffner, as chairman of the sports committee.

Fancy Trick Exhibition.

The first event was the cowboy trick and fancy roping exhibition, in which Harry Knight proved the victor over Tom Mix. The former is a marvel with the riata, and his feats were a revelation to the throng. He throws the rope with that precision as to catch the horse at full speed, either on the front or hind foot, and to make the play good, he ropes the entire animal and rider, with that ease and skill as to place him in a class by himself. One of his remarkable accomplishments was to lay the rope on the ground and as the animal and rider were coming along at full speed, to kick the looped rope from its position and encircle the front legs of the horse, then its hind legs, then the neck, at last horse and rider being captured with the loop, widened to meet that requirement. He closed his engagement with the riata by an exhibition of twirling it around himself, in loops of various sizes, and jumping in and out of the plaything to the amazement of all. Mr. Mix is also skilled, and was contented to receive the second prize, which he well earned. This feature proved the drawing card of the day, and has never before been equalled in this section in the variety of the stunts both men so cleverly executed.

Trick and Fancy Riding.

Another interesting cowboy exhibition was the trick and fancy riding in which George Hooker carried off the first prize. This horseman performed daring feats, such as had never before been witnessed. At full speed he would swing from the ground into the saddle, and before he was through would climb from one end to the other of his steed which never relaxed its gait for an instant. Hooker was said to be at a disadvantage in his feat, riding a horse that was picked out of the bunch, and not knowing its habits, as he was performing his acts. Skill and grace marked his every act, and his exhibition received the applause of every one.

Hooker is somewhat of a celebrated character on the range, formerly being with the Buffalo Bill Wild West and 101 Ranch shows. He recently came to this city with the Selig Polyscope Company. He also stated yesterday to friends that when a young man he resided in Prescott and served under the late General George Crook, as a scout. In his line he is a "hard nut to crack," and well earned the first prize money.

Goat Roping Contest.

Legislative discrimination in favor of the range steer prohibited them from being roped and tied in public exhibitions for the future, and in their place yesterday was substituted the next best article in the shape of the goat. Bad luck prevailed in this small fry commodity. There were thirteen entries for this feature, but many failed to get on the score card, making a miss or failing to tie up according to Hoyle. The majority of the cowboys were only slightly acquainted with the little "critters" and took pot luck as it were. W. Y. Peck pulled off the first mohair prize of $15 and Oscar Roberts captured his goat, taking second money a few seconds behind. The other contestants either failed to score or clipped off nearly a minute.

Horses Disappointing.

For the wild horse race there were plenty of the rawest mustangs that ever roamed the range, but their bucking propensities were sadly lacking, as far as the capability of the performers was to be considered. While of the outlaw class, they failed to deliver the goods to a single rider, and some of the boys were disgusted that the program in this respect proved disappointing to the hundreds of people present. This stunt was to be carried out by the horse and rider leaving the grandstand and re-entering the corral about a quarter of a mile distant, with two moneys for the winning and the second animal. The horses were the worst specimens ever seen in this city, but were sadly lacking in getting up steam under the saddle. The event was humorous, however, and W. B. Peck, of Ash Fork, returned first and Harry Knight second.

Broncho Busting Tame.

Broncho busting has always held the top hand in this section as the drawing card of cowboy sports, and in years gone there have been sent out of this country several riders who have distinguished themselves as professionals. But yesterday there was pitifully lacking the old-time horseflesh that thrilled the people in its vicious inclinations to paw the ground to a jelly or to hit the high places to dislodge the rider. On the other hand there were present the same old busters as of other days, just as good, and they got all of the fire out of the outlaw that was possible, but with little consolation to either themselves or the many spectators who were waiting for something of the old order to be pulled off. There were twelve entries for this event, and all were in the saddle. The finals will take place today, when the judges will give their decision. It is probable there will be some new horseflesh rounded up in the meantime, one of the best riders stating that he would like to get on the hurricane deck of some of the old 'uns so that the people would get a run for their money and satisfaction to overflowing. Some of the best riders in Arizona are present, in John Fredericks, Harry Loverin, Tom Mix, Harry Knight, Vic Frith, Clyde Merris, E. A. Ordunez, J. O'Brien, W. Y. Peck, Roy B. Lewis, Reese Brown, Harry Henderson and others.

Steer Bull Dogging.

Steer bull-dogging relieved the broncho busting to a marked degree, in which there was skill used and nerve exercised in each instance that thrilled all. This act consists of the horseman riding at full speed after his animal and throwing his game to the ground with his own hands. All participants were daring, and at full speed caught steers, also under full swing. Harry Knight proved the victor in this event, catching and throwing to the ground his steer in twelve and one-half seconds. His was a wonderful exhibition of nerve and accuracy, and he handled the animal as if it was a feather he was brushing aside. Nip Vann won second money, in sixteen and three-fifths seconds, making a splendid catch, but a little slow in bringing the brute to the ground. He is an expert at the game, and was accorded an ovation with the winner.

Tom Mix had the misfortune to have his steer interfered with by another coming on the track, when he was compelled to postpone the attack to throw it to the ground, several watches giving the loss of time at least five seconds. Mix made the most beautiful leap from the saddle of the day, after the field was clear, and made the time of eighteen and one-half seconds. His feat was given a deserved ovation. Harry Loverin, John Fredericks and J. O'Brien also did splendid work with the bovine, but had hard luck in landing their game on terra firma.

Skull Valley Triumphs.

The cowboy pony race had a big bunch at the scratch for the quarter of a mile dash, for a purse of $25 to the winner. The horse of Alfred Stapp, of Skull valley, ridden by Juan Olea, came under the wire first, while the others came along all in a bunch.

It Was Great Sport.

The grand finale of the day, and also the most amusing feature was the steer riding feature. For this occasion there were entered Tom Mix, Vic Frith, E. A. Ordunez, J. O'Brien and Nip Vann. The animals had more of the appearance of being sent through a barber shop by their razor back contour, than coming fresh from the range. They were as lean as a wildcat prospect, and must have been fattened on hot air especially for this occasion. None of the riders remained on top for more than six jumps, and most of them fell overboard before they got to going. Tom Mix, however, managed to sail to the best advantage with his steering gear, and Nip Vann came along as a second rater, the former pocketing $25 and the latter $15.

ROOSEVELT HEADS FOR GRAND CANYON.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Colonel Roosevelt proposes to take his departure to the Arizona desert and the Grand Canyon of the Colorado on July 8. It is learned that he proposes hiding himself from politics and politicians for two months, beyond the reach of telegraph and telephone. His sons, Quentin and Archie, will accompany him.

FAIR FEATURES CONSIDERED BY COMMISSION

PHOENIX, July 7.—The State Fair commission met at Phoenix on June 28th, and was in constant session all day.

Improvements on the track and grounds, repairs and extension of buildings, and a dozen other matters were again gone over.

The cattlemen of the State have long asked for better facilities in the way of washing racks and water supplies and other accommodations.

This necessitates in a measure the rebuilding of the present water system on the State Fair grounds. It had been hoped that connection with the city water mains of Phoenix might have been made this year, but it was found to do so would cost three or four thousand dollars in extending the mains to the Fair grounds. The Fair commission will have four inch mains laid within the Fair grounds and will maintain its water supply by a pumping system as it has in the past. When the city mains are extended to the Fair grounds, the Fair will be ready to connect.

Two great motorcades will leave Phoenix on the 2nd and 3rd of July for Prescott, Williams, Flagstaff and the Grand Canyon to the north and west to San Diego, respectively. Each one of the several hundred automobiles will carry a handsome pennant advertising the State Fair. San Diego has promised to send two automobile loads to the State Fair for every one that Phoenix sends to San Diego for the Fourth of July celebration. The north always comes en masse to the State Fair.

Dr. Redwell will take his special-organized band of twenty pieces on the northern tour. Among the musicians of the band are those who have been members of Souza's band, others of the famous Gilmore band, and still others who have been members of the great National band of Mexico. Some of the finest soloists in the whole country are members of the doctor's band.

Hon. George Purdy Bullard, Attorney General, left last night for Los Angeles, where he will referee the great Los Angeles-San Francisco Fourth of July race. While on the coast, Bullard will make final arrangements for the Los Angeles-Phoenix and the Los Angeles-San Diego road races to the State Fair. The State Fair commission on Saturday gave Bullard his final instructions. Bullard says more cars will enter these races this year than ever before.

Professor W. L. Fowler, of the State University, is now making a trip through California, Oregon, Washington and will return by way of Utah and Nevada in the interests of the State University and of the State Fair. Professor Fowler is superintendent of the cattle department of the State Fair. He reports that lovers of good cattle will find the cattle at the State Fair this year unsurpassed for merit and quality by any of the State on the coast.

Many Arizona cattle will visit the Coast Fairs this year, among which a splendid herd from the State University will make the circuit. Professor Fowler believes that the State of Arizona possesses as fine cattle as any State in the nation and that our cattle may need not fear competition from any quarter whatever. At Moore left last Monday night for Rochester, N. Y. to represent Arizona at the great Elks' conclave of that city. Mr. Moore was formerly a State Fair commissioner and while in the east will mingle with the horsemen to secure some fast ones for the State Fair.

DUNBAR'S WEEKLY TO ISSUE IN SEPTEMBER

PHOENIX, July 1.—Dunbar's Weekly, an up to date newspaper covering the State of Arizona in a political and industrial way, will make its appearance in September. John O. Dunbar, who has been in the newspaper business in Arizona a third of a century, is to be owner and editor.

Mr. Dunbar recently left the Democrat, with which he had been connected several years. Everyone predicted that he would break out in a new place soon, and he was not long in announcing his plans for a weekly.

Collier's Weekly will be Mr. Dunbar's model. His editorials will be a feature. Mr. Dunbar has a reputation as a writer of keen, biting, sarcastic, critical editorials, but he can also write editorials of the constructive kind.

In addition to Mr. Dunbar's editorials the weekly will carry much mining, agricultural and general industrial news. His aim will be to chronicle the advance of Arizona along different lines and to hasten that advance wherever possible.

Mr. Dunbar's son, Mark Dunbar, has secured a controlling interest in the Mesa Free Press and will shortly take charge as editor and general manager.

BULGARIAN ATROCITIES.

LONDON, July 4.—King Constantine of Greece today wired confirmation of the reported massacre of Greek soldiers by Bulgarians in Macedonia and the extermination of the Greek population in the villages through which the Bulgarians retreated.

PRESCOTT A FINE PLACE FOR FILM MAKING

(From Thursday's Daily.) "How is Prescott climatically for the making of picture films?" was the question asked Marshall Stedman, the business agent of the local Selig Polyscope Company, just to make conversation yesterday afternoon as he was watching a buzz saw go through a cord or two of four-foot wood.

"I should worry," he replied, "and get my salary raised."

"The atmospheric conditions here, leaving all joking aside," he continued, are nothing short of marvelous. We have been here just six months to a day Tuesday, and in all that time there have been only fifteen days when the company could not work. Even when the snow was on the ground Producer Duncan kept the troupe busy and we secured some fine scenes. Of course when the snow was falling it was impossible for us to use the camera. Contrast the weather here, in Chicago and the east where it is necessary on account of unfavorable atmospheric conditions to lay off as long as a month at a time. Then figure what we are doing, and you can realize that as a matter of dollars and cents Mr. Duncan is making a showing with the home office that is more than gratifying, and turning out pictures that in clearness cannot be surpassed.

The fact was intimated to Mr. Stedman that the general public is inclined to the belief that picture and other kinds of actors and actresses are prone to romance, in other words to occasionally indulge in statements that might be classed as hyperbole—that on account of the artificial atmosphere in which they work the tendency is to exaggerate just a trifle, not wittingly, knowingly or with malice aforethought, of course, but unconsciously, innocently and with a mind free from intent to deceive.

Stedman did not receive the hint with any great degree of enthusiasm, contending that actors and actresses differ not from other people when it comes to adhesion to the truth, incidentally remarking that as great an authority as David, the sweet psalm singer of Israel, said that "all men are liars." However, if his veracity was called into question he was willing and ready to submit the proof. And here it is, month for month, and by the way, is just as good an advertisement for the climate of Prescott and as accurate as one could wish or demand:

January, worked 29 days, lost 2 days.
February, worked 21 days, lost two days. (The worst month known locally for years.)
March, worked 28 days, lost three days.
April, worked 28 days, lost two days.
May, worked 30 days, lost one day.
June, worked 30 days, not one lost.

BACK TO BOSTON.

(From Thursday's Daily.) H. C. Gibbs, president of the Octave Mines Company, has returned to Boston after an examination of the property near Stanton. He contemplates making another trip in the next two months, when it is expected that definite arrangements will have been closed up for resuming operations on this old gold producer of other days. Mr. Gibbs expresses himself as sanguine over the future of that proposition, and that when work is resumed a large line of development will be the method of operating, with the treating of the yield, as of secondary consideration until a large tonnage is available. He also stated the new organization means to follow out a conservative line of systematic mining, and that the corporation is a close one, with no stock to be placed on the market.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work."

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing mind, and I feel it my duty to speak its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it. Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," in plain wrapper. N.G. 191

DOWNS IS FOUND GUILTY OF CRIME OF ASSAULT

(From Thursday's Daily.) John Downs, colored, was found guilty by a jury yesterday afternoon of the crime of assault with a deadly weapon, on two colored men at the rooms of the Manhattan Club in this city, and sentence was set for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

It was proven that Downs was the aggressor of the three-cornered fight that occurred, and in the mix-up he was shot by the keeper of the place, but not before he had used his knife by slashing another member on the body in four places. The crime is punishable by from one to ten years in the State penitentiary.

Cattle Stealing Case.

The case of the State vs. Angus McDermid, accused of stealing a certain neat animal owned by E. M. Albertson, was placed on trial during the afternoon and will not be concluded until today. Two informations have been filed against the defendant for cattle stealing from Albertson. The following is the jury in the trial of the first offense: Homer Hixon, Frank Fenton, Frank Denny, E. F. Bowers, John L. Thomas, W. H. Seaman, C. Emmet Newton, L. A. Talbot, Ed Roberts, John Cole, W. H. Roy and John Odell.

Damage Case Set For Trial.

The $10,000 damage case of Mrs. Agnes Wallace against the City of Prescott was set for trial before a jury at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, September 9, 1913, the continuance being made on account of the illness of F. L. Haworth, City Attorney, and at the request of J. J. Hawkins, his law associate.

PROPERTY PASSES TO THE JOURNAL-MINER

(From Wednesday's Daily.) The deed from T. W. Otis to The Journal-Miner Publishing Company, conveying all the property and improvements on the northeast corner of Cortez and Union streets, was filed for record yesterday.

The two story brick building on the corner is to be remodelled to fit the requirements of a printing and publishing business and will be the new home of the Journal-Miner after the improvements have been completed. Extensive alterations are to be made, and a steam heating plant is to be installed. Architect Elliott is of the opinion that the work will not be completed until about the first of October.

The property has a frontage of 50 feet on Cortez street and runs 150 feet to the alley, on which it has a frontage of 75 feet, the lot being of an L shape.

Unadvertised things are sold—sometimes. Journal-Miner want ads will sell them quickly. **

KILLS LICE, TICKS, FLEAS, MITES. CURES MANGE, SCAB, RINGWORM, SCRATCHES, ETC. DESTROYS DISEASE GERMS AND DRIVES AWAY FLIES.

NON-IRRITATING. EFFECTIVE. INEXPENSIVE.

YOU can't afford to let lice, ticks, fleas and mites eat your stock alive. Get a supply of KRESO DIP and follow directions. It will put an end to the parasites and give the stock a chance to thrive and put on flesh. Use it in barns, hog pens, chicken houses and dog kennels—any place where there are vermin.

KRESO DIP is a coal tar product. It mixes readily with water. It does not burn or irritate like carbolic acid. It does not blister or take the hair off like kerosene. It costs less and does more than any of these. You can't make a better investment than to buy some Kreso Dip to kill lice, ticks, mites and fleas and prevent disease by destroying the germs.

One gallon of KRESO DIP makes 60 to 75 gallons when mixed with water. Each lot is STANDARDIZED by the manufacturers, therefore always the same.
